CHAPTER XV.

MORE than one along the south road that sultry morning of July 4 turned to gaze after a fair-haired girl who passed upon a lead-white horse, with a negro boy behind her astride a sorrel. Yellow dust splashed Anne's olive cloak as she rode into the town, and yellow dust clung to John the Baptist's wool.

How many legends? She would have been won but for the purpose that buoyed her up. She rode, some way, paying as little heed to the sparse groups along the streets or to the few painted Indians lounging with their peltry in the squares as to the beetle-travelled roofs or the wooden statuary in the pretentious yards.

Her thoughts were busy with the past. They flew back to that night at Gladden Hall, her last view of Armand, when Jarrah's troopers had dragged him away; to the flight of Dunmore and his family, his wailing burning of Norfolk with his rabble of runaway slaves, and the last fight at Gwyn's island, whence the impotent earl, with his brutal aid, Captain Foy, sailed away to the north, never again to set foot upon Virginia soil; to her anguished wonder as to Armand's fate meanwhile. Even Henry's return from the Second Congress, the news that Colonel Washington had been elected commander in chief of colonial forces and the glorious outcome of his long siege of Boston had not been able to cheer her.

She thought of the long hours she had watched by the bedside of the bondswoman with grave-faced Dr. Craik watching her slow return to life; of the still longer days when she had sat by the listless figure who only stared leaden-eyed and with brain pitifully dulled to hear asked over and over again with desperate earnestness that same question, "Where is it—can't you remember?"—a question met always with the same result; of the long, fruitless search, the unreasoning faith in him that would not yield to recital or argument, and finally the lucky accident which had given her the key to the packet's hiding place.

She had started the selfsame day, taking John the Baptist with her, leaving a hurried message for her uncle and aunt, who were then away in Richmond. And this, the twelfth day thereafter, found her at her journey's end riding into the wide, clean thoroughfares of Philadelphia.

"Miss Annie"—John the Baptist's solemn drawl broke her reverie—"dat yaller boy at de place whar we stayed las' night say dee gwinter mek ev'body eak. Do dat mean we niggers gwinter be white lak you, or is y'all gwinter be black lak me?"

But Anne had no answer. Going toward High street, her course lay by the open green on which the new statehouse fronted. She noticed that the pavements were almost deserted and found herself thinking wonderingly that the streets of Richmond were noisier.

It was with a start of surprise that on turning a corner by the green she pulled up without warning on the skirts of a great hushed crowd, well ordered, moving restlessly under tree that shrouded with locusts.

Most of these nearer the front were gentry. They walked back and forth slowly, tramping the blue chisties and whortleberry bushes. Next them was a stratum of the trading and working classes. No wonder the wealthier merchants feared them, for they wore trousers of coarse drill, even leather jerkins, and some carried tools. Here was a group of weavers from Germantown, and not far away a knot of Swedes from Vicoana. The older men among these were leggings and skin coats.

On the outskirts of all, here and there, holding themselves aloof, walked stately, heavier figures in small clothes of rich velvets and satins and wearing powdered wigs.

"They carried irritable looks, these 'Pennsylvania lords,'" as the bitter Adams called them. It was bad weather for Tories. From the yard of Clarke's inn, across the street, they looked askance at the workmen, passing sneering allusions to the representatives from Massachusetts, angered at the assumption of legislative powers by men clearly of more humble blood than themselves.

They saw the cannon in position by the statehouse and the Continental flags fluttering from the shipping in the harbor. They knew that in the nearby woods five battalions of Associators, drilled and armed, were awaiting any outcome. They knew that the people were ready, if only their leaders should choose.

Anne upon her tired horse looked with wonder at this earnest, quiet crowd and thrilled with a new sense of the dignity of the assemblage within those brick walls. The heat was smothering, and she had thrown open the thin cloak she wore, showing a flash of crimson waist with a sash of metal buttons.

Mordecai Floyd, looking on near by, gazed on her with pursed lips. "Small wonder," he said grimly, "that unrighteousness doth overwhelm the children of the world and move them to wrath when we see all about us the testimony of unbelief. Last of the eye, Friend Joseph; lust of the eye!"

Joseph Galloway, standing by him, looked at the girl, so straight and young and bright-lined; then his crafty look returned. "Consider the lilies of the field," he quoted with unctious as he took snuff.

"I doubt not," pursued the Quaker, wagging his pow, "twas designed to cast a slur upon the vanity of apparel since 'tis a thing of so little estimation in the sight of God that he bestows it in the highest degree upon the meanest of his creatures. 'Tis to be presumed that, were it a thing of worth in itself, instead of bestowing colors, gildings and broderies upon tulips, he had bestowed them upon creatures of higher dignity. To mankind he hath given but sparingly of gaudy features, a great part of them being tawny and a great part being of other wan and dusky complexions, showing that 'tis not the outward adornment that he wishes, but the appearing in supplication for the ornamenting of the Spirit."

"Even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these!" intoned his companion smoothly. "But I must be going, Mordecai. I have an errand at the tavern."

"Hast thou heard aught more of the message to the congress from France?" the Quaker inquired in a low voice as he clasped the other's fervid palm.

Galloway put his lips closer to the other's ear, and a glutinous cluckle shook his fowl.

"Mordecai," he said, "I dreamed last night that France had an ax to grind. Wouldn't it be curious if the message didn't tickle the congress so much after all? Ho, ho!"

Anne's first inquiry provoked a smile

Mrs. Rosa Adams, niece of the late General Roger Hanson, C.S.A., wants every woman to know of the wonders accomplished by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I cannot tell you with pen and ink what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me, suffering from the ill effects of the sex, extreme lassitude and that all gone feeling. I would rise from my bed in the morning feeling more tired than when I went to bed, but before I used two bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, I began to feel the buoyancy of my younger days returning, became regular, could do more work and not feel tired than I had ever been able to do before, so I continued to use it until I was restored to perfect health. It is indeed a boon to sick women and I heartily recommend it. Yours very truly, Mrs. ROSA ADAMS, 819 12th St., Louisville, Ky."—$5000 forfeit if original of above letter proving genuineness cannot be produced.

FREE MEDICAL ADVICE TO WOMEN.

Don't hesitate to write to Mrs. Pinkham. She will understand your case perfectly, and will treat you with kindness. Her advice is free, and the address is Lynn, Mass. No woman ever regretted having written her, and she has helped thousands.

from the bystanders. Dr. Franklin Yes, he was doubtless in the hall, but to see him! Quite impossible! And a lady too. At a recess she might succeed, but not now. Who could tell but he was on the floor at that moment?

So she rode off. At High street she

Inquired for an inn, as she had been in the saddle since dawn and the horses were tired. Learning that the principal ones were all full owing to the presence of the delegates, she found her way to one of the more humble hostleries on another street. It was the Red Lion tavern.

The place seemed well nigh deserted. Had she known the significance of this day's sitting of the congress she would have understood. As it was, finding no host in evidence, she went into the parlor and sat down to await his appearance.

And sitting so, from the hail and coming nearer she heard the well remembered voice of Jarrah.

A panic seized her. The packet—it was in the lining of her cloak at that moment. He must not see her! She looked wildly about her, but there was no door of escape. In desperation she ran to the deep set window. It was shut, but there were shallow curtains across the alcove, and she shrank behind them as the door flew open.

Jarrah came in noisily. One of the inn servants was at his heels.

"I would speak with monsieur," he said. "Request him to be so good as to honor me here." He stood smiling redly as the servant went, and Anne watched him from between the curtains with fascinated gaze.

"At last!" he muttered. "The final stroke, and still all goes well. If Armand succeeds for us, then advancement and favor for me. The king must reward me, for the plan was mine alone."

"Armand!" Anne's heart had given a great leap. Jarrah knew where he was, what he did. "If he succeeds for us." What meant those strange words?

Again a step in the hall, again the door opened, a scraping servant said, "Monsieur," and again Anne's heart leaped, for the man who stood on the threshold clad in a full costume of purple velvet was Armand. Armand, but sparer of feature, with shadows beneath the eyes. Yet they looked out with all their old nobility and with a strange fire. She knew now where she had seen that fire—it was in Henry's face—the fire of steadfast purpose that knows no quenching.

Armand! Escaped from Dunmore's clutches, safe and in Philadelphia! She wanted to rush out to him, to cry to him that she had done the best she could, had come to fulfill her promise at last. But what did he wish Jarrah?

"So?" the latter said. "As bravely trimmed as ever. 'Tis the dress of a prince."

"My good Phebe has the best of taste." On Armand's face was a strange smile.

"You have cozened him beautifully. I doubt not he expects reimbursement from his king."

"My king," corrected Armand softly. "Keep it up," laughed Jarrah. "Tis never forgetting makes a good play actor. Faith, it minds me of the old Virginia days. Then you posed as only a marquis. We rise in the world. Yesterday in a prison cell at Halifax, to-day this little plan, release, and presto, behold Louis' secret envoy. Well, you are near to the purchase of your pardon. The time is almost here. A half hour more and you will enter the statehouse. You lack not assurance. Here is the letter you will deliver to the congress."

Armand took the paper he handed him and put it in his breast.

GILLESPIE CASE

State Presents Damaging Testimony In the Rising Sun Trial.

GILLESPIE IS VIOLENT

Chief Defendant Resents Testimony of Sheriff and Wants to Fight That Official.

Interest In the Case Continues and Court Room Is Continually Crowded.

Rising Sun, Ind., May 17.—The Gillespie murder trial continues to attract much attention, the courtroom being continually crowded. The state is still presenting evidence. Among the witnesses was Mrs. Ella Jones, who testified that she saw Myron Barbour and Mrs. Barbour in the rear of the Barbour home after the shooting. Mrs. Jones said she heard Mrs. Barbour say: "Myron, you know nothing about this, do you?" Myron replied: "No, I don't."

Edith Buchanan, a professional nurse and intimate friend of Elizabeth Gillespie, testified that she was preparing to go to church when she heard of the shooting. She went to the Gillespie home at once and remained there until after funeral. She said she never saw any of the defendants at the home.

Adeline Griswold, a member of the literary club of which Elizabeth Gillespie was a member, said she visited the Gillespie home frequently, but never saw James Gillespie nor the Barbour there, but met Mrs. Seward there several times.

Mrs. Mary Hewitt, formerly a domestic for Mrs. Barbour, testified that one day several years ago she heard Elizabeth Gillespie scream in her home. The witness said: "I ran into the yard and saw Lizzy lying in the yard on her back. James was about ten feet away. Elizabeth's dress was torn and her arm bruised. James said: 'Go away and let her be. She will get up herself when she is ready.'"

Charles Ludwig, a newspaper reporter, testified that Mrs. Barbour said to him that the character of Elizabeth was not good and added that "Miss Gillespie is a devil."

Ludwig said he talked with James Gillespie, and when he asked how Elizabeth was, James said: "I don't know and don't care to know."

Rev. John Henry of Kirklint, Ind., former pastor of the Presbyterian church here, testified that he talked to James about the relations between himself and his mother and Elizabeth. He said he was requested by Mrs. Gillespie to see James and ask him to call on his mother. Rev. Henry said James replied: "She knows where I live. I don't care to go there any more. I lived in hell long enough."

County Auditor James Carson testified that he heard Myron Barbour say to Earl Seward on the night of the shooting: "He should not have shot, for his poor old mother's sake." The indications now are that the case will go to the jury next Saturday.

James Gillespie attempted to assault Sheriff Rump at the trial after court adjourned last evening. Gillespie claimed that Rump's testimony was untrue, and invited him into the cell to fight. Sheriff Rump reported the matter to Judge Downey, and it is said that the prisoner will hereafter be handcuffed on his way from and to the courtroom.

DURBIN WAS THREATENED

Excitable Negro Creates a Sensation

During Governor's Address.

Chicago, May 17.—A man supposed to be insane interrupted the address of Governor Durbin of Indiana at the African M. E. conference last night and threatened the governor with death because he "had disputed the word of Father Abraham."

During the governor's address the man had been pressing forward gradually, and, just before the speaker concluded, he had reached a point almost in front of the rostrum. Suddenly he started toward the governor, shaking his finger at him and exclaiming: "Any man who dares to dispute the word of Father Abraham, the father of the nation, I will kill him."

Before he could reach the rostrum he was seized by several of the ushers and rushed through a side door into the street. After being pushed down the door the man ran off and disappeared. The ushers threw him out so quickly that it was not learned whether or not the man was armed.

Governor Durbin paid no attention to the man, and until he had concluded his remarks, was not aware that the threats had been directed at him.

An "Unimportant" Matter.

St. Petersburg, May 17.—The general staff considers the blockade of Port Arthur as unimportant. The railroad has been destroyed since May 14 over a distance of 28 miles. General Kurapatkin seems more confident, though it appears that he still has a serious difference with Viceroy Alexieff, who has complained in a telegram to the emperor which did not pass through the hands of the military censorship, that Kurapatkin does not heed his orders or advice. It is the general desire that Kurapatkin shall be the sole head of the military operations.

HANNA'S SUCCESSOR

Cortelyou Talked of for National Chairmanship.

Washington, May 17.—George B. Cortelyou, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, it seems very likely now, may be selected as chairman of the Republican national committee. While in no sense endeavoring to anticipate the action of the Chicago convention, or that of the national committee to be chosen at that convention, President Roosevelt and leaders of the Republican party generally have canvassed for months the subject of the national chairmanship. From time to time the names of various prominent Republicans have been published in connection with the chairmanship, but the gossip about the matter had no firmer basis than conjecture. Several widely known and influential Republican leaders have been considered for the important position. Some time ago the name of Secretary Cortelyou was suggested. It met instant favor. It is known that Mr. Cortelyou sustains very close relations, not only with President Roosevelt, but also with party leaders throughout the country. He is regarded as being admirably equipped for the position, possessing fine executive ability and a thorough knowledge of men and affairs. For several years he has been intimately identified with political management, scarcely any man sustaining more confidential relations with President McKinley, Senator Hanna and President Roosevelt than he. If he should be elected national chairman he would resign his position in the cabinet and devote his entire time to the work of the campaign.

LONG-DISTANCE COMBINE

Big Telephone Merger Promised Among Independents.

Louisville, Ky., May 17.—After having inspected the independent telephone systems of the Atlantic states and middle West, the party of independent telephone capitalists headed by J. G. Spang of the Allegheny and Pittsburgh company have decided to perfect within the next three months an independent long-distance system. This will be accomplished, according to a statement given out by Mr. Spang, by consolidating and capitalizing the long-distance facilities of six of the largest companies. The six companies which will incorporate the new system are the Louisville Home Telephone company, controlling the independent long-distance telephone and telegraph company of Kentucky; the Kinloch company of St. Louis, the Western of Kansas City, the New Indiana, the United States of Cleveland and the Allegheny and Pittsburgh of Pittsburgh. The numerous smaller independent telephone companies will be connected with and have service through the new corporation, paying on a pro-rata plan. The capitalists assert that the plan will give complete long-distance service from the Atlantic seaboard to the western border of Kansas. Mr. Spang and party have left to inspect the telephone systems at Indianapolis, Ind., and Dayton, O.

Getting McDonald Jury.

Bedford, Ind., May 17.—The indications are that two or three days will be taken up with getting a jury to hear the McDonald case. It has been so generally discussed that both sides are somewhat doubtful if twelve men can be found in less than two or three days who have not formed or expressed an opinion. The regular venire of jurors has been supplemented by a special venire of ninety-eight men, who will be the first examined.

"Fellow Servant" Clause Sustained.

Washington, May 17.—The supreme court of the United States has laid down the principle that a telegraph operator for a railroad company and a fireman on a railroad engine are "fellow servants" and that the negligence of the former causing the death of the latter in the operation of trains was a risk the fireman assumed, and was not a ground for damages against the railroad company.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Milwaukee city officials against whom indictments were returned charging bribery must stand trial.

The plans for the improvement of Ft. Benjamin Harrison, at Indianapolis, have been completed.

Alexander Dowie, of Zion fame, has arrived in London, having left his wife and son in Colombo, Ceylon.

In the presence of a large audience at the State Capitol, at Baton Rouge, New Orleans, Alexander Dowie, of Zion fame, and Jared Y. Sanders, Lieutenant-Governor of Louisiana, were inaugurated.

Serious differences have arisen between Gen. Kurapatkin and Viceroy Alexieff. The latter has complained to the czar, it is reported, that Kurapatkin pays no attention to his orders.

NO NEARER AN END

Illinois Republican Convention Still In Apparently Hopeless Deadlock.

COMPROMISE CANDIDATE

All Suggestions Along This Line Have Been Sat Down Upon By the Struggling Factions.

The Fourth Day of Balloting Finds the Candidates In Relatively the Same Position.

Springfield, Ill., May 17.—With its deadlock unbroken and with little prospect of a compromise which will deliver the situation, the Illinois Republican convention is struggling through its fourth day of battling for a candidate for governor. At 5:30 o'clock last evening the convention took a recess until 10 o'clock this morning. The recess followed the 25th roll-call, the result of which showed each candidate with approximately the same strength he had when he entered the convention.

The last ballot taken yesterday gave the following results: Yates, 481 440-770; Lowden, 404 335-770; Deneen, 382 545-770; Hamlin, 115 440-770; Warner, 37 440-770; Sherman, 56 440-770; Pierce, 22 440-770.

The convention's proceedings were comparatively tame yesterday, and at only one time during the session was there any great demonstration. This occurred when a glee club was invited to the platform to sing. "Uncle Joe" Cannon asked the audience to join in the chorus and led it himself, taking a commanding position on the platform and beating time with his gavel reversed for a baton. He looked like a dignified old-time singing master at a country schoolhouse as he gracefully swayed his body in unison with the music and described the beats of the inspiring tune with his improvised baton. The great audience, with this inspiration before it, sang with a will and when the echoes of the chorus of "Illinois" died away a wave of wild enthusiasm swept over the immense hall.

The attendance showed no diminution in the interest attaching to the convention. There was a steady downpour of cold rain all day and the hall was close and disagreeable, but the building was packed with people who sat through the monotonous roll-calls without the least sign of impatience. The tension was high and the nervous anxiety with which the crowd watched for the long-threatened break had a quieting effect upon the gathering. Order was maintained with comparative ease.

A number of conferences are in progress today. One of them, brought about by the federal influence in the convention is attempting to select an outside candidate, and the names of Walter Reeves, ex-Governor of Illinois and several others have been mentioned. The federal influences attempted to have their men agree upon Congressman Warner, but they could not get enough votes, and the threat of Hamlin and Sherman to nominate Yates in the event that Warner became a formidable candidate, deterred them. The Yates people are claiming that Senator Cullom is exerting his influence with postmasters in various parts of the state to get votes away from Yates. It is charged that a Gallatin county delegate who quit Yates did so in response to a telegram from H. M. Peoples, postmaster at Shawneetown.

The Yates and Deneen people are in conference for the purpose of strengthening their recent alliance, which is designed to prevent the federal influences from stampeding the convention.

The failure of any of the Hopkins counties to break from Yates indicates that Senator Hopkins has decided to stay with Yates in the struggle, although the Lowden men still insist that they will get Hopkins as soon as the latter's votes will be sufficient to settle the contest.

ILL-FATED EXPEDITION

Body of Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., to Be Returned to St. Johns.

St. Johns, N. F., May 17.—The sealing steamer Aurora, which has been landing machinery for the whale factory at Cape Charles, Labrador, has returned to Westville, 100 miles north of here, bringing the body of Leonidas Hubbard, Jr., assistant editor of Outing, who perished in the interior of Labrador last October while on an exploring expedition. The Aurora also brought Hubbard's companions, Dillon Wallace, a lawyer of New York, and Frank Elson, a half-breed guide. The steamer will arrive here tonight.

Shot by Her Rejected Suitor.

Peoria, Ill., May 17.—While her father, Leland Howells, and family were away from their home near Yates City, Nora, the seventeen-year-old daughter, went riding with William Loudon, who had been forbidden the house. He urged her to marry him, and when she refused he fatally shot her. The girl first said the shooting was accidental, but when informed that there was no hope of recovery, she weakened and told the straight story. Loudon was taken to the Knox county jail at Galesburg, for safekeeping.

The Gas Was Escaping.

Fort Wayne, Ind., May 17.—P. Rauh, a traveling salesman of Fort Wayne, was found dead in a room at the Grace hotel, Chicago. When found Rauh was lying on the bed, while the gas was escaping from two jets in the room. The opinion is held that he committed suicide.

A Russian Suggestion.

Constantinople, May 17.—Russia has suggested to Turkey some scheme for the capitalization of the indemnity due by the latter for immediate payment to Russia as a means of increasing the revenues for war purposes.

IN OLD AGE the question of health becomes mainly a question of nutrition. If the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition are kept in a healthful condition there will be a well-nourished body, and little liability to disorders of the liver, bowels or such other disorders as may result from in-nutrition and lack of exercise.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition, and also diseases of other organs which are caused by the diseased condition of the stomach. By enabling the perfect nutrition of the body it increases the vital power and promotes a vigorous old age.

"I was a sufferer from chronic diarrhea for five years," writes Mrs. Mary A. Aaron, of Rolla, Phelps Co., Mo. "I tried different remedies, which would give me relief for a short time only. My trouble would return as bad as ever. I consulted you in July, 1900, and by your advice commenced using Dr. Pierce's medicines. I took two bottles of the 'Golden Medical Discovery,' three vials of the 'Pellies,' and some of the 'Extract of Smart-Weed,' as you advised. I have not had any return of my trouble since using your medicines. Am now seventy-one years old and I never had anything to relieve me so quick. I think Dr. Pierce's medicines the greatest on earth. Should I ever have any return of my trouble shall use your medicine. My thanks to you for your advice and thanks to Almighty God for restoring me to health through your hands."

Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

IF Marshal Prewitt can break up the practice of reckless bicycle riding on the part of both men and boys; also the promiscuous use of air guns and rubber slings, he will have done a good work. If city ordinances regulating these things are not to be obeyed, better repeal them.

GEORGE B. CORTELYOU, who was President McKinley's private secretary, is likely to be chosen chairman of the republican national committee to succeed the late Senator Hanna. He is now a member of the cabinet, being secretary of the department of commerce and labor.

THE memorial day address at Seymour will be made by the Hon. John Rebeck, of Versailles. He is a clever and forceful speaker and the old soldiers were fortunate to secure him. Let the people generally take part in the observance of this day. No national holiday means more to patriotic citizens than does this one.

WITH the Gillespie trial on at Rising Sun and the trial of James McDonald at Bedford the metropolitan papers are having an abundance of that sort of sensational matter to handle for the time being. The public may find fault because of the prominence given these trials, yet the fault finders read the reports in full and anxiously await the next paper. The papers only supply the demand of the public.

IT is reported from Chicago that Hearst has about decided to give up the race for the presidency. His experience in Indiana was both discouraging and expensive.

THE dead lock in the Illinois republican state convention continued all day Monday. Governor Yates was still in the lead on the final ballot. There was hope that the contending forces would get together today.

IT is said that Warren G. S. of Wabash, Sidney Cantwell of Hartford City, Elie Stansbury of Williamsport, and E. A. Dau-man, of Goshen, will be candidates for speaker if elected to the legislature next fall.

COLUMBUS has started in the prize fight business with what the press there modestly term a "boxing bout." They have a civic league in Columbus that will probably take a hand in that "boxing bout" business after another round or two.

Objected to Taylor.
W. S. Taylor, former governor of Kentucky, accepted an invitation to make the Decoration Day address at Kokomo, May 30. When this fact was made public at Kokomo last Saturday there was a storm of protest which was not relished by Capt. Milton Garrigues, chairman of the committee, and who extended the invitation. But when Mr. Taylor heard of the trouble he relieved the situation by withdrawing his acceptance.

Thrown from a Wagon.
Sunday evening Mrs. David Montgomery, of Redding township, was thrown out of a spring wagon and received painful injuries. She with other members of her family were driving along the road and run over a rough place that gave the wagon such a jolt that she was thrown to the ground. She was hurt so badly that it was necessary to call a physician.

If You Could
Call at our office, see how well we are prepared to do the work we are doing and have us explain our methods for handling eye sight and eye strain troubles, you would easily understand why we are successful. We cannot do this by advertising, but we want to call your attention to certain symptoms which indicate that there is an error of refraction in the eye, which can be corrected by lenses ground especially for individual cases.

If your eyes are inflamed, if they water, burn or ache, if by turning the head quickly you get dizzy, or have headaches that sleep benefits more quickly than medical remedies, if the eyes turn in or out, if by holding one eye shut and looking at some clearly defined object you find vision better in one eye than the other, and numerous other symptoms, its time to have your eyes examined. We are students of "cause and effect" and will tell you frankly without hesitation if your eyes are at fault. Examinations free 9 a. m. to 8 p. m. Mr. and Mrs. Harsch, Optometrists, Eyesight Specialists, No. 74 N. Chestnut street.

TAMPICO COMMENCEMENT.
Closing of a Successful Year's School.

The commencement of the Tampico schools and District 5, Grassyfork township, occurred last Saturday night. The Christian church, where the exercises were held was crowded. The class had taken much pains in decorating and the church looked beautiful. Music was furnished by Johnson's orchestra of Seymour.

At 7:30 the class led by Rev. W. C. Martin, Prof. J. E. Payne, Trustee Niehrman and Prof. L. A. Ackerman, marched in and took their places on the platform. Elder Alfred Reynolds gave the invocation.

The first speaker was Noble Mellen-camp whose subject was "Musica Domestica and Cicada." His oration was very interesting and well delivered.

Miss Rose Parker spoke of "Time and its Value," handling the theme in a very creditable manner.

Miss Ethel Beldon gave an excellent biographical sketch of "LaFayette," the French hero who rendered such valuable assistance in our war for independence.

Miss Lena Applegate also gave a carefully prepared biographical sketch of that well known soldier "Winfield Scott."

Miss Flossie Waskom had for her subject, "Republics of the Western Hemisphere," which she handled in a very pleasing manner.

William Cooley's subject was "The Tape Worm." In pleasing style he told of the parasites found in animal nature which should be guarded against.

Miss Lula Starr gave a clear and forcible discussion of the subject of "Alcohol," emphasizing the evils of intemperance.

Miss Lucy Waskom's subject was "Perseverance" and she made it plain that man must exercise his own will and do his own part well to succeed.

"The Chinese Questions" was discussed ably by Virgil Duncan.

Miss Gertrude Russell spoke of "Our Largest Cities," referring to eleven of our largest cities in a creditable manner.

"The Crimean War" was the subject well handled by Alonzo Fleenor.

Miss Mattie Empson had for her theme "Washington's Farewell Address" which she handled in a very clever manner.

The diplomas were presented by Prof. J. E. Payne in a very pleasing and timely address.

Then followed the closing address by Rev. W. C. Martin, of Seymour. Subject, "The Old and The New." He made some very apt comparisons of the ancient and the modern. He spoke of ancient literature and the relation of the old to the new. He showed how the idea of art was developed by the ancients and the growth of inventions in modern times. All his comparisons were timely. Rev. Martin is a very entertaining and forceful speaker.

OSCAR H. MONTGOMERY
Something About the Republican Candidate for the Supreme Bench.

Oscar H. Montgomery, nominated to the Supreme Bench of Indiana at the recent Republican state convention, was born on a farm near Seymour, Ind., April 27, 1859. He completed the course of study then provided in the common schools, and at the age of seventeen entered Hanover College, from which institution he was graduated with the second classical honor in 1881. During his college course he spent a part of one year, the winter of 1878-9, in teaching a public school in Hancock county, and later served as tutor in the college, was editor and business manager of the college paper, and president of the Inter-State Oratorical Association. He is now and has been for ten years a member of

After graduation he began the study of law in the office of Hon. Albert P. Charles of Seymour, where he remained, spending the winters in teaching, until April 22, 1884, when he was admitted to the bar of Jackson county. Immediately thereafter he formed a partnership with his cousin, L. H. Reynolds of Greenfield, and entered upon the practice of law in Hancock county. This partnership continued until February 1, 1885, when he returned to Seymour and opened an office alone, where he has ever since practiced without a partner. From the time of his return to Seymour he has been fortunate in having a large and constantly increasing business, extending over much of southern Indiana and embracing litigation of every character.

He has never held an elective office, but was for ten years the city attorney of Seymour, and has devoted himself with great diligence to his chosen profession. At the same time he has taken a reasonably active interest in politics and received such recognition of an honorary character as his party locally had power to confer. He has served as chairman of the county committee, and of the Fourth congressional district, and as a delegate to the Republican national convention in 1896.

He is vice president of the Indiana State Bar association, a member of the American Bar association, and a member of the commission on uniformity of laws among the states, having been appointed by the late Governor Mount about six years ago.

Perhaps the reason the Democratic leaders are waiting so long to define their policies is that they are trying to find out of one another what they really do believe concerning any public question that is uppermost in the minds of the people.

Democratic leaders seem to have such an antipathy for trusts that they are unwilling to touch the horrid thing—even with restrictive legislation.

The leaders of the Democratic party ought to have ordinary gumption enough to know that a campaign based upon personal detraction of such a man as Theodore Roosevelt will end in overwhelming defeat, even if there were no other cause for it. Why not for once assume that all voters are twenty-one years of age and that the most of them at least are supposed to know their own minds.

What the Advertiser Pays For
The man who pays money for advertising needs a cheerful philosophy to sustain him. He needs nerve and faith and patience. The time goes and the money goes, and the returns linger. Advertising is the greatest force in modern business, but it takes nerve to use it. It is hard for an advertiser to realize what it is he pays for. He draws his check for the $4,000 page, and the page doesn't look as if it were worth 30 cents. It is hard to project the imagination into a million homes and see the advertisement doing its work.

The advertiser doesn't pay for type and ink and paper. He pays for an effect in people's minds. It is as intangible as air and as permanent as steel beams. It is almost as imperishable as time.

Monuments crumble, bridges fall, mountains are disrupted; thought goes on forever. Teach a man a word, an idea, a fact, and he will never wholly lose it. Your investment in the minds and memories of the people is the safest thing you own.

The best asset of a business is a well-known trademark. Do you realize what that means? It means that in the convolutions of the thousands or millions of human brains that trademark is indelibly impressed. You can't see it, but it is there, and it is property—you can capitalize it. It is worth more than you paid for it—Advertising Experience.

NO GRUMBLING
Rule Fixing Representation in Legislative Conventions Gives Satisfaction.

Indianapolis, May 17.—Secretary Fred Sims of the Republican state committee said today that it is not true that there is a lot of grumbling over the "excess vote" rule for fixing the representation in the convention to nominate legislative candidates from the joint districts. The rule was adopted for the purpose of giving the minority counties an opportunity to name a candidate if the majority county had a separate representative, and Sims says that there has been less confusion and complaint than expected. There is to be no meeting of the state committee, as reported, to straighten out the tangle. One or two of the joint districts, where each county has a separate representative are kicking on the rule, but elsewhere there is peace and quietude. Secretary Sims says that the delegates to the national convention will probably be called together the latter part of this month to make arrangements for the trip to Chicago.

There seems to be a dearth of political news here now. Old-timers say it is not unusual, however, as a calm always follows a storm and there has certainly been a storm of politics in Indiana this year. Since the Democratic state convention last week visiting politicians have been few and far between. Most of the men who come here to participate in the political game have gone home for a well-earned rest. Chairman Goodrich of the Republican state committee was here today looking after routine business. Elam Neal of Jonesboro, Eleventh district Republican chairman, H. C. Starr of Richmond, and three or four other well-known Republicans dropped in, but there was nothing doing. Taggart and most of his associates have left town temporarily and for the time being at least there is very little activity on the state political stage.

The Republican county ticket will be nominated here tomorrow afternoon, and from all indications the convention will be a very tame affair. There have been some mysterious doings among the Republicans here during the last ten days—namely, the unexpected withdrawal of a number of prominent candidates. The excuse they have offered is that they found the campaign too expensive, but it is being pointed out as significant that they did not consider the expense until the eleventh hour. To many politicians who are not on the inside it looks as if those who are on the inside may have brought some pressure to bear to get men out of the race who are opposed to their favorites. At any rate the situation is not just what many Republican leaders would have it to be, yet they have nothing tangible on which to make charges. It is just another case of mysterious political byplay.

Charles Remy, reporter of the supreme and appellate courts, is rather amused at a story printed in a local paper that he has been selected to manage the campaign of Congressman C. B. Landis for the United States senate. "I don't know whether or not Landis is a candidate," said Remy, discussing the matter. "He has never talked to me and naturally I don't know what he is going to do. The story about me managing his campaign is very absurd. I haven't pledged myself to anyone but Senator Beveridge. Maybe there won't be but one senator to elect, as Senator Fairbanks may not be nominated for vice president." Remy has been very successful looking after the campaigns of a number of men besides himself, and his services are sought for, but he is not in on the Landis campaign.

There may be an interesting rumple among the Democrats of the Twelfth district as an almost direct result of the defeat of the Hearst forces in the recent state convention. The Twelfth, as generally known, was a strong Hearst district. Most of the party leaders lined up with the editor candidate except Congressman Jim Robinson. Before coming home it is said that he declared vociferously for Judge Parker. His mistake was that he did not before the sentiment in his own district before he spoke, for some of the Hearst leaders are now talking of "skinning him" for the nomination. It is hard to see how he is going to land as easily as he did two years ago. There is talk of bringing out Henry Collier and Judge Hench of Fort Wayne, and some other prominent men are talked of.

TESTIMONIAL.
MESSRS. WATSON & CO., Indianapolis, Ind., Agents. March 1, 1904.
Dear Sirs:—Replying to your query as to whether I am pleased with the F. P. lighting system which you installed for me fifteen months ago, I will say that it has never given me one minute's trouble nor one dollar's expense. It gives the best light I ever saw for interior use. The electric rays are of such a character as to make it very desirable when the perfectly natural colors of objects are to be distinguished without confusion.

As to cost of maintenance, I think my experience, based upon close observation, will warrant the statement that it is under $80 per annum, and our store is open every day in the year until 11 o'clock p. m., except on Sunday, one hour less. Under the same condition, and with the most approved facilities for the distribution of light, our bills for illuminating gas were about $200 per year, and for electric light (arcs) about $100 to $120 per annum, and at no time have we had more than one-half the light we now have.

I am particularly pleased with the light, and the fact that it is so economical makes it the more desirable.

As you can readily figure, I paid for my apparatus and cost of light in about four or five months. Yours truly, R. L. EADS.

A gentleman prominent in railroad circles speaking of the lenses, fitted for his wife, said: "They are the best tonic she ever had, and she has not had a headache since she put the lenses on." Now this was a typical case of Eye Strain, overlooked perhaps by her physician. Of course there are numerous kinds of headaches, and one of these is caused by Eye Strain. ## Railroad Fishermen.

John I. Williams, main line Panhandle conductor, has been laying off for a week past visiting his father-in-law, Jacob Sudfield, at North Madison. Saturday, he went to Scipio and fished in Big Sandcreek, and caught 25 pounds fine bass. He also caught a large hard shell turtle, 22 inches in diameter across back. Mr. Williams went to Scipio again yesterday to try his luck a second time. A North Vernon man caught a 44 pound black bass there last week, and W. Foster, a Louisville Panhandle man and Al Franklin, Louisville and New Albany dinky conductor, caught 16 fine bass in Sandcreek, near Scipio, last week. —Columbus Times.

Selecting a Jury.

All day Monday was taken up at Bedford in trying to secure a jury to try James McDonald who is charged with the murder of Miss Sarah Schafer. A special venire of 100 men summoned was exhausted and still the jury was incomplete. When court adjourned Monday evening it was believed that most of today would be consumed in completing the jury.

The people of Bedford are manifesting much interest in the proceedings, but still there is a general belief prevailing that McDonald is not the guilty party. It is said that McDonald will take the stand in his own defense.

Flowers Stolen.

Some one entered the yard of Mrs. Brandt in the south part of town last night and took a lot of flowers that she had just planted. She feels the loss very keenly for she took much pride in her flowers. This is a class of thieves like all others that should be run down and punished.

Saturday night some parties entered Mrs. John Carter's yard on east Third street and pulled up and carried away a lot of her flowers. A close watch should be kept until these flower thieves are landed in jail.

C. G. & R. Outlook.

Chas. N. Wilson, the general manager of the Columbus, Greensburg & Richmond Traction Company, says the outlook for his line is excellent and that in a short time construction work will begin. This is the company that is proposing to build an extension from Columbus to Seymour by way of Azalia and Reddington. The proposed extension is a good business proposition and one that Seymour people can afford to help along.

Broad of Review.

Notice is hereby given that the County Board of Review of Jackson county, Indiana, will meet for assessment, review and equalization of taxes at the room of the county commissioner in the court house at Brownstown in said county on the first Monday in June, 1904, and continue in session thirty days.

Protect Song Birds.

An exchange calls the attention of the public, especially to the small boy, that the penalty for killing song birds is a severe one and the boys who have been guilty of the misdemeanor may have the privilege of paying for their fun. Killing song birds is a direct violation of the law, and it makes no difference whether the offense is committed in town or country. Some boys in a town in the northern part of the state were arrested for killing robins and the sport cost them something over twenty dollars apiece. Parents would do well to teach the boys the value of birds, and thus create a sentiment that would protect the feathered citizens in both town and country, better than pay a big fine for the birds the boys kill.

"BEAUTIFUL WINONA."

Excursions via Pennsylvania Lines to that Pretty Resort.

With the opening of the season at Winona Lake, May 16th, the sale of excursion tickets over the Pennsylvania Lines to that attractive resort in Northern Indiana will begin. Every summer passed there by thousands has only increased their desire to return. On the golf links, the tennis courts, the baseball or cricket grounds, the croquet field, or boating on the lake, fishing, camping, swimming, driving, or attending recitals and lectures by world-famed personages in the auditorium—whatever the diversion may be, the associations are of that congenial sort conferred by good society. This resort is noted as the site of Winona Assembly and Summer School, attracting teachers and students from educational institutions of this and other countries.

Fifteen-day and season excursion tickets will be sold from ticket stations on the Pennsylvania Lines during the summer. For information about fares and times of trains, apply to local ticket agents, or to F. Van Dusen, Chief Assistant General Passenger Agent, Pittsburgh, Pa. Illustrated literature describing attractions of Winona Lake may be had for the asking. Address: S. C. Dickey, Secretary and General Manager, Winona Lake, Ind., who will give particulars regarding camping facilities, hotel accommodations, program of addresses by noted speakers and all other details.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

Cured His Mother of Rheumatism.

"My mother has been a sufferer for many years with rheumatism," says W. H. Howard, of Husband Pa. "At times she was unable to move a. all, while at all times walking is painful. I presented her with a bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm and after a few applications she decided it was the most wonderful pain reliever she had ever tried, in fact, she is never without it now and is at all times able to walk. An occasional application of Pain Balm keeps away the pain that she was formerly troubled with." For sale by C. W. Milbous.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, encourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when kidney troubles are out of order or diseased.

Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy. The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.

Don't make any mistake, remember the name, Swamp Root. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root, and the address Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

CHINESE REBELS

May Offer a Very Serious Menace to Russian Arms.

Shanghai, May 17.—According to a native report from Port Arthur, the Japanese are vigorously besieging the fortress night and day by land and sea. Sixty Japanese warships and transports have been sighted in Blackney bay and heavy firing has been heard in King Chau bay.

Shanghai, May 17.—The Chinese government is addressing an identical note to all its ministers abroad reviewing China's declarations of neutrality. An imperial edict will be issued enjoining the Chinese people to strictly observe neutrality.

London, May 17.—In the absence of actual news from the seat of war in the far East the London newspapers today are commenting on what is believed to be the precarious position of General Kuroki who is menaced by the possibility of the Chinese rebels cutting his communications, as well as by the difficulty of raising the Japanese plan of campaign.

The Standard, which is rather inclined to be pro-Russian in its views, admits that Kuroki has at his disposal south of Mukden at most 100,000 troops of inferior quality, only 75,000 of whom are available for active operations, while General Kuroki certainly has 150,000 first-class troops, the equal of those in European armies. "Under such conditions," the Standard says, "the issue of battle is very seldom doubtful."

Revolution in Sight.

Colon, May 17.—According to news received here from Bogota, President Marroquin is removing the chiefs of army which is in favor of Dr. Joaquin Velez for president, and is substituting the followers of General Rafael Reyes. Among the number called upon to resign is General Gonzalez Valencia, who holds the position of commander-in-chief of the army. It is rumored that General Valencia obstinately declines to resign, and the opinion is freely expressed that serious internal troubles are impending owing to the attitude of the partisans of Velez and Reyes.

A Discouraging Outlook.

Colon, May 17.—More than 300 American laborers have arrived at Colon. The majority of them are under contract to the United Fruit company at Bocas del Toro, and the others are seeking work here, but the present conditions are unfavorable for such early arrivals.

A Cure For Piles.

"I had a bad case of piles," says G. F. Carter, of Atlanta, Ga. "and consulted a physician who advised me to try a box of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve. I purchased a box and was entirely cured. It is splendid for piles giving relief instantly, and I heartily recommend it to all sufferers." DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled for its healing qualities. Eczema and other skin diseases, also sores, cuts, burns and wounds of every kind are quickly cured by it. Sold by W. F. Peter and A. J. Pellens.

Famous Old Scout Dead.

Durango, Col., May 17.—News has reached here from Fort Garland, Col., of the death of Tom Toben, a famous scout and Indian fighter and intimate friend and companion of Kit Carson. Toben served as scout to the government troops in expeditions against hostile Navajo and Mexican bandits.

A Satisfying Portrait.

Whooping Cough.

"In the spring of 1901 my children had whooping cough," says Mrs. D. W. Capps, of Capps, Ala. "I used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy with the most satisfactory results. I think this is the best remedy I have ever seen for whooping cough. This remedy keeps the cough loose, lessens the severity and frequency of the cough, and counteracts any tendency toward pneumonia. For sale by C. W. Milbous.

GROWTH OF ORDER

Encouraging Reports Submitted at State Convention of Rebekahs.

MANY NEW LODGES

During the Year Just Passed There Has Been a Large Increase in Order in This State.

An Aggregate Membership of 42,236 With Total Resources of $61,218.75.

Indianapolis, May 17.—The twentieth annual session of the Rebekah assembly is in progress in I. O. O. F. grand lodge hall. The reports of officers showed an encouraging condition of the order. The report of President Olive E. McGrew showed twenty new lodges organized during the year, four resuscitated, two consolidated and twelve surrendered charters. Report of Mellie Lindsay, secretary, shows in the home fund, $21,619.44 received and $21,600.61 expended, leaving a balance of $18.83. The reports show 531 lodges in good standing to date, with an aggregate membership of 42,236, a gain of 1,933 during the year. The total resources of all lodges is given at $61,218.75. The report of the treasurer, Louisa Langjahr, shows a net balance of $2,878.69 on hand.

COAPSTICK FOUND GUILTY

Jury Credits Him With Stealing $8. With Jail Sentence.

Wabash, Ind., May 17.—The jury in the Wabash circuit court has rendered its verdict in the embezzlement case against Rufus Coapstick, cashier of the Big Four freight office, this city, finding that he took but $8 of the company's funds, and sentencing him to nine months in the county jail. As Coapstick confessed the theft of more than $3,000, and the examination revealed a shortage of over $1,000, the jury based its decision on the language of the indictment, which charged the embezzlement of $4,000 on a stated day, the defense raising the question that the money had been abstracted from time to time in "small" amounts, and that the prisoner could be convicted only on the specific act of stealing $8 in a single day. The verdict is generally ridiculed, there having been no mitigating circumstances. Coapstick lost the entire amount gambling.

Rival Banking Interests.

Rensselaer, Ind., May 17.—Delos Thompson and W. M. B. Austin are heading rival interests for the organization of a bank in this city, to replace the defunct McCoy & Son concern, and there was spirited rivalry as to which should secure possession of the old bank building. The Thompson interests were successful. The new venture will open its doors about the middle of June as a state bank. It is understood that the Austin capitalists are canvassing the feasibility of organizing a national bank.

Suspicion of Foul Play.

Muncie, Ind., May 17.—The body of the young man found dead by the railroad track at Jacksonville, Ill., has been identified as M. D. Sellers, twenty-five years old, of this city, and the body has been brought here for interment. Sellers started from Oklahoma to visit the World's Fair. He was well supplied with funds, but only $1.60 was found in his possession. Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Sellers, his parents, believe he was the victim of foul play.

Plymouth Milling Plant Burned.

Plymouth, Ind., May 17.—Fire in the plant of the Plymouth Milling company destroyed the plant and contents together with several nearby residences. The mill was owned by John F. Zarp of this city and Herbert Brenner of Assiniboia, Canada, and the loss is $30,000, with but $15,000 insurance. Several thousand bushels of grain were destroyed. The loss on other property aggregates $5,000.

Young Woman's Shocking Death.

Franklin, Ind., May 17.—While Mrs. Albert F. Alexander was alone at home preparing dinner her clothing caught fire from a defective gasoline stove, and she was so frightfully burned that death came to her relief in four hours. Mrs. Alexander was twenty-four years old and a beautiful young woman.

He Was Dumbfounded.

Evansville, Ind., May 17.—Louis Mason used profanity in hearing of his wife, who was so shocked that she caused a warrant to issue for his arrest. Mr. Mason was dumbfounded upon learning the identity of the complainant. The wife hopes by this procedure to cure him.

Disappointed Woman Sues.

Anderson, Ind., May 17.—Miss Eva B. Wilson of Elwood, alleging breach of marriage contract, has brought suit against Leonard Sisson of Elwood, for $3,000 damages. She alleges she prepared for her marriage to Sisson last October, and that he has refused to marry her.

War on Winereams.

Evansville, Ind., May 17.—Mayor Charles G. Covert has issued an order to the police force that all the winereams of the city be kept closed.

MAKING HIM LOOK PLEASANT.

Is an easy thing when we quote our prices on building lumber. A pleasant surprise always awaits the contractor and builder when he visits our yard after getting prices elsewhere and seeing the superior quality of high grade lumber, hard-wood trim, flooring, lath, shingles and that we are selling at low rock prices. Our lumber is of high quality, well seasoned and beyond competition, price considered.
